Areas for Improvement

1. Parent Communication

WGS will collect parent emails at registration to improve communication.

2. Parent and Student Feedback

WGS will increase parent and student feedback if Remote Learning is required.

3. Student Support

32% believe that their child will need extra support in the fall to successfully transition to the next grade level. Teachers will evaluate individual students to identify gaps in learning and provide support.

4. Student Motivation

We anticipate providing new learning in Fall 2020 with grading to occur within state guidelines.

The teachers did an amazing job of creating assignments that kept the kids engaged. The assignments not only continued to plug them in to learning but also gave them freedom to get creative with their responses and their subject-related activities. Giving them a little freedom to choose a direction within their assignment really caused them to WANT to be more involved and motivated. The teachers were also great at staying connected with the kids and providing some socialization and encouragement that they needed.

The school meals were a nice chance for my child to see his teachers. His teacher checked in regular with him and provided enough resources, but also the flexibility to let the parents determine what was best for the child during the given uncertain times. The class meetings were good because they focused on the social emotional well-being of the child and not so much on busy school work. My son loved the books read by staff. It gave him something fun to look forward to, and he got excited to see the staff members "on the internet".
